In a few words:

In September - November you can experience beautiful autumn colors, both in Oslo, the mountain and fjord areas. Probably with a sprinkle of snow on the mountain peaks. During this time, we lower our shoulders, with long walks followed by hot chocolate by the fireplace.

From December to March, it is full winter. Then we enjoy the beautiful snowy landscape over the mountains. It can be cold, bring your warmest clothes and sturdy winter boots. Late in November and in December we prepare for the Christmas holidays. Oslo is especially beautiful at this time, with light decorations in the streets and Christmas music.

April and May are the spring months in these parts of Norway. Now we look for the early spring flowers and enjoy nature waking up again. Maybe you would like to experience Norway's Independence Day, May 17th, with happy people in traditional Norwegian costumes (bunad) and laughing children eating lots of ice cream?
